On the occasion of the visit of HE Hassan Wirajuda, former Foreign Minister of Indonesia, to Sweden, you are cordially invited to a SIPRI event in cooperation with the Embassy of Indonesia to Sweden

The Permanent Court of Arbitration Ruling on the South China Sea: Implications for Indonesia and Beyond

In the wake of the 12 July 2016 ruling on the South China Sea by the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague, China and the Philippines have demonstrated marked differences in response. While Indonesia is not a claimant, it is among the countries in South East Asia that are impacted by this ruling.

HE Hassan Wirajuda, former Foreign Minister of Indonesia, will discuss how The Hague's ruling impacts classification based on maritime features and historic rights to explore its wider implications for South East Asia and maritime law under the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea.
